To Avoid New War Understanding With Russians Is Necessity

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin from United Press
DELAWARE, Ohio, March 8.—
Vice President Henry A. Wallace today declared that a third world war would be probable if the Allies "double cross" the Soviet Union and inevitable if the Soviets again embrace the idea of forming world revolution.

Another war would be certain, he said, if the United Nations permitted Germany to rearm again.
"Unless there is a close and trusting understanding between Russia and the United States, and that there is a grave possibility of Russia and Germany sooner or later making peace," after this war.

Wallace expressed these views in an address entitled "Practical Resolutions in the World of Tomorrow" delivered at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Analyzing causes of the present conflict and ways to avoid another war, Wallace said that the "well-being of the world depends on the extent to which Marxism," as it is called progressively modern in Russia, and democracy, "as we are adapting it to the 20th century conditions, can live together."

He made these salient points:
"It is vital that the United Nations exercise some control over German education after this war ends."

The great mass of Russian peo-

Ontario Asks For More Beer

TORONTO, March 8.—(AP)—
The Toronto Board of Control today asked the Liquor Control Board of Ontario to ease its restrictions on beer deliveries and that a decision was expected soon.

The story said that Ontario had asked for an increase in beer deliveries, using January sales as a basis.
This would give Ontario an additional 1,500,000 gallons for the next seven months.

The Globe said that the province had also asked that the Dominion take over the task of supplying municipalities with beer, and that this be considered separate from the question of meeting civilian requirements.

his own request in "bad boys" row, on the turn of events which de-expected in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Gestapo Carrying Out Raids To Block Any Rightist Coup

By ROBERT BUNNELLE
LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—Hitler's secret police were reported today to have arrested 24 persons on Feb. 25 at the important German military academy in Charlottenburg, outside Berlin, in one of a series of raids described as apparently designed to block any rightist or monarchist coup by those of the Fuehrer's conduct of the war.

A foreign diplomatic source who has unusually reliable information in Germany said that in addition to the arrests at the institution, the Gestapo was reported to have arrested Capt.
Eckhardt, who led the Black Reichswehr Brigade in the putsch engineered by Wolfgang Kapp in 1920.

This should be noted, said the source, who said that the invasion, was a forerunner of Hitler's national socialism.

May Be Necessary Further Cut in Value of AA Gas Coupons Is Possibility

TORONTO, March 8.—(CP)—Oil Controller G. R. Cotterle warned today that "it may be necessary" to make a further cut in the value of AA gasoline ration coupons.

Addressing the Ontario Motor League directors' luncheon, Cotterle said that if a national emergency, such as the present one, "abuses" of the AA classification, holders of these coupons would be the first to suffer.

AA ration books provide 40 units of gasoline a year, and the present unit value is three gallons.

man high command had ordered three panzer and nine infantry divisions, totalling 30,000 men and 1,000 tanks, from France to the Russian front in an effort to stem the Soviet advance.

Re-Elected Pattullo, Hart In Verbal Duel On Income Tax

VICTORIA, March 8.—Ex-Premier
Y. D. Pattullo and Premier John Hart engaged in a verbal duel on the matter of provincial income tax in the Legislature.

Mr. Pattullo reiterated his demand that the Coalition government declare its stand on the right of the province to participate in the income tax field.

Premier Hart replied that the government was not prepared to make any decision on income tax until after the war. That decision, he said, would be made in the light of conditions at that time.

Clearly disappointed with the Premier's reply, Mr. Pattullo told the House he was prepared to take the question in his own way, and called the attention of British Columbians to the dangers that confront them.

It is not that I object to the Dominion government collecting the tax, but I insist on the right of this province to participate in the income tax field.

Mr. Pattullo said that he was prepared to pay a very high provincial tax. "We will be without that," he said, "the House must decide whether it is willing to keep up its social and educational services."

No One "Squaks"

Britons Healthier, Shabbier As Pinch of War Toughens In 4th Year of Struggle

Gilts Percell of The Canadian Press staff, is back in Canada after a brief stint in Britain. Here he tells us of a series of articles of the change in British living conditions since he left England at the end of 1941.—EDITOR.

TORONTO, By GILLES PERCELL.—(CPI)—Wary squawks on the British people have failed to produce a squawk. Instead it has turned out a healthier—sometimes happier—folk, looking a shade or two shabbier as the going toughens in the fourth year of battle.

The hard hand of war has clutched virtually every British family. Few homes have not suffered casualties in battle or in the air. Every home has been hit by rising taxes, by food rationing and latterly by rationing of clothes.

Blackout, blight and taxes are not for granted. Food of the bygone bacon-and-eggs days is still the most-discussed topic. But the pinch of economic rationing has made everyone squeal, if not squawk.

GETTING TIGHTER And the pinch is getting tighter. At the end of March, the British will receive 20 coupons to last her until late fall. For 18 coupons she will receive a suit, but for 17 she will not.

She may prefer to use her 20 coupons on a blouse (4 or 5), but it means he is prepared to do a better job than the one he has. She may prefer to use her 20 coupons on a blouse (4 or 5), but it means he is prepared to do a better job than the one he has.

Still Mr. Pattullo was not appeased. At the first conference in Ottawa, he said, he and his ministers were unanimous that the province should retain the right to participate in the Dominion income tax question.

"If my honorable friend (Premier Hart) will not make a statement on this, it means he is prepared to do a better job than the one he has. She may prefer to use her 20 coupons on a blouse (4 or 5), but it means he is prepared to do a better job than the one he has.

CITES B.N.A. ACT Mr. Pattullo declared financial interests in the east would like to have the British North American Act changed so that the Dominion government would have exclusive right to levy income tax.

"And once that B.N.A. Act is changed," he said, "the Dominion will have taken away our big source of revenue."

Mr. Pattullo wanted to know the C.C.F. stand on this matter, to which Harold E. Smith, leader of the C.C.F. opposition, replied:

"Our position is not changed," said Mr. Smith. "We are continuing a dogmatic stand. We consider there should be another conference between the Dominion and the provinces, and various questions discussed."

"If the Federal government is prepared to assume responsibility for education and social services on a basis satisfactory to British Columbia, we are prepared to accept that basis."

"Otherwise," he said, "the C.C.F. is definitely of the opinion that British Columbia must retain its right to participate in the income tax field."

Ottawa Creates New Coal Control

OTTAWA, March 8.—(CPI)—Under an order-in-council just passed, jurisdiction over production and supply of coal, coke and wood fuel has passed from the provinces back to the industries control board, it is announced last night by the munitions department.

The order-in-council creates a new coal control board, which will have the powers, duties and functions of the old coal control board, including continued operation of the Dominion Fuel Board which has absorbed by the coal administration in 1941. All supply or demand issues by the administration have become decisions of the coal control.

Staffs of the coal administration and Dominion Fuel Board have been transferred to the munitions department. James E. Stewart, K.C., now coal administrator, under which he will continue to regulate prices of coal, coke and wood-fuel.

500,000 Prisoners Acknowledge Aid From Red Cross

MONTREAL, March 8.—(CPI)—Jackson Dods, chairman of the Central Council of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said Saturday that nearly 500,000 signed acknowledgment cards have been received from prisoners of war who have received food parcels from the Canadian Red Cross in the last year.

Making an appeal for support of the society in its present campaign for $100,000,000, Mr. Dods said in an address prepared for delivery over the national network of the CBC that $5,000,000 in new contributions would be required to meet the objective will be used to supply food parcels for prisoners.

Allies to Discuss Post-War Status Of Nazi Germany

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—Individuals in a position to know the United States government are ready for a pre-and-con discussion with Britain and Russia of post-war status of Germany.

Under Secretary of State Stettin Weller is conducting a study of the question.

Up to now, say these individuals, the state department has been a bit of a puzzle to partition G. many into small states, there are a number of alternative forms of decentralization.

HAMELIN REMEMBERS PIPER An old law to the effect that "no pipe may play in a dream in the street down from the street" is supposed to have been children to the one still in effect in Hamelin, Germany.

The Rains Came—In Tunisia and New Guinea

The war may not be all wet, but it's certainly damp on the Tunisia and New Guinea fronts. Heavy rains in the first months of 1943 slowed down the advance in the North African theatre. Pictures from German sources, too, shows a Nazi truck stranded by an overnight rainfall that washed out the road. Enemy troops study the situation from a ridge while other vehicles wait to advance. Down in New Guinea, the rains have helped the Allies to clear the way for their advance. The American soldier who is a part of the story, too, is a part of the story, too.

Allied Campaign in Africa Still Ahead of Schedule

By VIRGIL KINKLEY

Excerpted from the Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943 by the Bulletin Company

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, March 8.—The Allied campaign to drive the Axis from Africa is ahead of its original schedule, despite recent setbacks.

Successes at the first stages of the campaign, undertaken by the British and American forces, led many to believe that the war would be fought and won in a matter of days, or weeks, at the outside, before the final battle would be fought and won.

The best way to visualize the progress of the campaign is to go back and start from the beginning.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's original plan was to take the Tunisian and Algerian fronts, and then to move on to the Italian front.

After Allied forces had poured in at Sidi, Oran, Casablanca, Algiers, they decided to take a long-range, long-term campaign in Tunisia and Bizerte. They were prepared to take them when the time came.

They failed.

Navy Minister Disputes Claim Of 30 Sinkings

HALIFAX, March 8.—(CPI)—Navy Minister Macdonald yesterday challenged the claim of a Quebec legislator that more than 30 ships had been sunk in the St. Lawrence River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence last summer.

Declaring he knew of only 20 ships lost last summer, Mr. Macdonald said the claim of a Quebec legislator that more than 30 ships had been sunk in the St. Lawrence River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence last summer.

In a speech in the Quebec legislature, Mr. Macdonald said that "not 20 but upwards of 30 ships were sunk" in the St. Lawrence River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence last summer.

ONLY TWENTY SUNK Mr. Macdonald told The Canadian Press, "all our information is that 20 ships of all kinds, including two Canadian warships, were sunk last summer in the river and Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Strait of Belle Isle and the Cabot Strait." He did not name the Canadian craft sunk.

Friendship Sincere Canadian, U.S. Views Similar On Post-War Reconstruction

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(CPI)—In a survey of Canadian public opinion, the Foreign Policy Association said yesterday there is a "remarkable similarity in views between the people of Canada and the United States concerning the problems of the post-war reconstruction."

The survey was prepared by five Canadian editors and reporters who visited the United States in a "friendly mission" to study the reconstruction of the United States after the war.

Expenditures required for reconstruction of the United States would be a "heavy burden" on the United States, the survey found. It also found that the United States would be a "major factor" in the reconstruction of the world.

There should be no trouble convincing British Columbia of the need for far-reaching changes in the shape of the post-war world, the survey found. It also found that the United States would be a "major factor" in the reconstruction of the world.

Study Group Set Up

Without a division the members of the House of Commons approved the Government motion to set up a committee to study the social security problem and propose a national scheme adapted to Canadian conditions. This unanimous vote is a general recognition that such a scheme is needed and that the time is ripe to bring it into existence. The dispatches in this paper indicate that better progress is likely to be made by referring the question to a committee in the first instance, rather than bringing down legislation embodying the views of the Government.

While they were agreed as to the need of health insurance, and the advisability of linking this with old age pensions and unemployment insurance in a general security plan, the debate showed the members by no means agreed as to the details of health insurance that should be set up nor as to the kind of general plan that would work best. The recommendations made after a survey of the problem in all its bearings—and it has a good many bearings—should go far to harmonize the divergent views of the House and thus make it as speedy action as is consistent with the importance of the undertaking.

It is to be hoped the conclusions of the committee—whatever they may be—will be unanimous. In that event the country may escape the obvious possibility that security might become a political football.

System Counts

Each person in Canada will be asked during the coming year to lend his country $250, or as much as he can whether the amount be less or more than $250. This is the average amount the Government must borrow per head of population. Not every one can make this average investment. Some will be able to do so from current earnings. Many will have to transfer to the Government some of their money on deposit in the banks or elsewhere. In cases it may be necessary to sell stocks or property in order to buy bonds.

It goes without saying that the average as to be reached there will have to be less buying of luxuries, and of conveniences which in this favored country we have come to regard as necessities. Our pocket patriotism is to be tested more severely than it has yet been—if there are any persons in Canada who are not the Government may at last be able to find the money to pay for the war.

The brakes will have to be applied to self-indulgence if we are to back up with our dollars our protest against the Government's money plan.

Keeping Them Busy

R.A.F. bombers carried their offensive into the territory of the German-occupied East. As fourteen of the planes failed to return they apparently went over about 300 around the city. The air ministry said it was a "saturation raid," implying that the number sent was accounted sufficient to make a complete job. As Essen has been bombed many times before, this raid was apparently designed to undo the repair work that had been carried out at the Krupp works and other munitions plants.

This repair work is being kept going by heavy demands on German manpower. This is confirmed by news from Holland that nearly five hundred German military units have had to be organized in the Reich alone. In France and other occupied countries the clearing up and re-building of wrecked plants is absorbing enormous labor, while thousands of French and other skilled artisans have been transported to Germany to work in the plants.

Stopping munitions production in the plants attacked, the bombers are thus keeping a considerable army of re-productive workmen employed, and likely would be turning out planes, or bombs, or other needs of the Hitler force. In Canada, with munitions production being a shortage of manpower on farms and in other essential occupations, the handicaps thus thrown upon the Nazi war effort are apparent. If even a fraction of the men came over and blew some of our munitions plants or railway terminals to pieces, our manpower shortage would be very considerably aggravated.

That is one of the side-effects of the air offensive in Germany, far less important than the interruption of munitions output, but of large and steadily mounting importance none the less. It is something worth while that the German bombers are clearing up the debris in Berlin and Cologne and Essen and a dozen other German cities are being bombed in order to arm or supply Hitler's army in Russia, or to put more U-boats on the prowl for Allied transports.

Any Canadian who feels aggrieved, and perhaps resentful, because the new war budget will cramp his style in the matter of luxury-spending should note that in London a campaign has started to raise £150,000,000 to build bombers. They are taking the war seriously over there.

Saturday's dispatches carried news that R.A.F. planes bombed German East-Australian plane bombed Lappe. Near East bombers pounded Naples. Allied troops captured Piaz Pass. The Russians captured the town of Leningrad, the road to Smolensk, and the Chinese threw back a Japanese drive on the Salween river. The British are steadily and surely turning into a global offensive with the Axis taking the blows.

The Nazi surface fleet has been holding manoeuvres off the Norwegian coast, supposedly tuning up for attacks on convoys en route to Russia. That little stir is such a fleet is due to the designers who gave the Tirpitz and its associate craft speed enough to keep out of range of British "knock off Norway" a few weeks ago. The new Grand Admiral Donitz perhaps thinks his ships might be in need of under water as hiding usefully in Norse fiers.

A Berlin spokesman hinted that Hitler may bring his infamy by resorting to the use of poison gas in spring attacks on Britain. If he wanted to find out whether the Allies have prepared for that eventuality he got the information promptly and in set terms. Wholesale asphyxiation of the German people is the very definitely proposed response should the Fuehrer provide the Allies with the weapons and stores of gas they have in readiness. This, it can be hoped, that his lieutenants will dissuade him from launching the threatened attacks.

A Summary of a Broadcast Delivered Over CFRN March 6

By HAROLD L. WEIR

Those who are interested in the wider diplomatic aspects of the world situation would do well to keep their eyes on Spain. There were unconfirmed but stubborn rumors that the Germans are making preparations for a movement through that country. It is true that if Germany is not going to abandon its policy of non-intervention and attempt to fight in Spain, it must move in through either Spain or France. She must control either Gibraltar or Suez. Otherwise the African campaign will be a failure.

Harold L. Weir (retiree) has been in North Africa for a long time. He is a member of the staff of the United States Army in North Africa. He is a member of the staff of the United States Army in North Africa.

It seems ridiculous to us that Germany should be so concerned about the matter. But consider his position.

Exultation. In the first place it is clouded by a feeling of cheap exultation over his position.

Russians Changing View Of Decorum and Military Behavior

AT THE rate hockey players are shutting around the country as their own teams are eliminated, leaves it within the realm of possibility for the east to be represented by clubs the members of which have been playing in the west all winter and for eastern players to be found upholding the honor of the west this spring in the finals of both Memorial and Allan Cups.

It is only a few days ago that Winnipeg Army was knocked out and next thing heard of George Agair and Jim McFadden is that they are helping out Army-Navy squad against Port Arthur Beavers in the Thunder Bay playoffs. And now that the Lakehead know it out, these boys may be up some place in the east any day now.

There have been many late-season migrations, but another illustration is that of an Superstition reportedly lined up with St. Boniface juniors against Winnipeg Equinox in their division final on Saturday night. Superstition played all winter with E.A.C. juniors who lost out in the final playoff series.

Naturally cases of players in the armed forces are different for it is assumed their moves are not necessarily of their own volition and furthermore the "War Time Regulations" in the C.A.H.A. rules regarding military enlistment, which states that military service, not in a "lower category," is a different proposition altogether.

Either the provisions as set out in the C.A.H.A. regulations are being violated, or the players are in effect which is not in the public good, copies of which are being referred to be official were made available at the start of the season. Subsequent to that time, it is to be played, yet apparently it is becoming meaningless.

HOW TO COOK MEAT

In my daily menus you have already observed how rich in vitamins meat is, and in order to obtain the full value of this valuable protein, it is necessary to know how it should be cooked.

Meat may be baked, boiled, broiled or roasted. Meat should never be fried as this causes it to become dry. The high temperature of a steak, for instance, may be cooked on a very hot skillet, by searing it on each side 10 to 15 in the broiler, and then finish in the oven. The meat is juicy and tender, and entirely free from grease.

Many housewives unwittingly cause the family a great deal of digestive discomfort by roasting a joint improperly. There is a time when, say, that great hunk of additional fat or suet should be placed on top of the meat in the roasting pan. The method is that the meat is literally boiled in fat. The best way to roast, is to bring the oven to about 450 degrees, place the meat in an open roasting pan, without adding any water, or fat, and place the roast in the oven at this temperature. After 15 minutes turn the meat and leave the oven at 400 for another 10 minutes. The high temperature will seal the surface, and the meat may then be turned down to about 250 to 300 for as long a time as is required, depending upon the size of the roast. Steaks and chops are very easy when broiled or grilled. The method is to place the meat to fry into the pan underneath, and the meat will be appetizing and easily digested. My principle is to cook the meat in its own fat, don't fry meat, don't add fat or grease when cooking meat. Next time you cook meat, try my method, and see what an improvement there is in appearance, and what a difference in flavor there is when you use my "meat" in process.

Readers who have not yet sent for my "VITAMIN CHART" are urged to do so right away. One of these charts should be in every kitchen, and it should be consulted each time you go to the market. The chart gives the vitamin content of all the fruits and vegetables, almost every known food. Tomorrow I will tell you how to construct a menu.

Better Idea Than Boarding Alone or Breaking Up Cherished Rooms to Live With Another Family

Among the hardships of war that many women are called upon to endure is the breaking up of their way of living. It is not alone that when their husbands go into the army thousands of young wives are left desolate and lonely, deprived of the companionship to which they were accustomed, but they are faced with the problem of adjusting themselves to different conditions and a new mode of existence.

With John gone to the war, Mary cannot keep up the payments on the little house that they were buying, and that they had worked so hard to get and whose every nail and board are as dear to her as her heart's blood, unless she takes in roomers and sees her precious floors scarred by scuffing feet, her beloved wallpaper smeared and deluged by careless hands.

BREAK UP HOME
Jane can't solve the apartment house problem where the furnishings she and Tom put so much thought and love it seemed almost a part of their wedding ceremony, without she takes some other woman in to live with her. And Mary sees no other way but to take the children and go back home with Mother and her husband, who are old and cranky and set in their ways.

There is no happy solution of the problem of what the young wife, who has been broken up by the war, shall do with herself for the duration. For no woman who has been broken up by the war has her own home in which she can live, much less of all the things and desires, ever fit into another's home.

She can't even be happy in the home in which she was reared, or even in a comfortable home she makes up, and that she has her food and every day instead of leaving it on the shelves to gather dust.

Not one woman ever find the perfect companion with whom to live. One who has had her hand downed fill that bill, much less another woman who has ideas and tastes and habits that do not mesh with yours. And if the other woman has children, the result is the arrangement doesn't end in a marriage, the result is a mess.

REQUIRES HIGH MORALE
Yet these are the conditions under which thousands upon thousands of women have been living these war times, and to do it cheerfully and bravely, so many of them are doing, requires just as high a morale as their husbands are showing on the battle front.

I get hundreds of letters from young wives asking what they must do when their husbands are gone for war, and to these I would

McKenney On Bridge
By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
American Card Authority
This is the first of a series of 12 columns of bridge news and contract bridge, which will be effective beginning April 1. The official code was published in 1935.

The scoring table of contract bridge remains exactly the same as it has been since 1935 with one exception. The 1935 bonus for making a double contract was dropped from the code. The new law restores the 50-point bonus for successfully making a double contract. The bonus is the same, however, whether you are vulnerable, or not vulnerable, or whether the contract is redoubled or not. This bonus will mean very little to public bridge, but in duplicate bridge it becomes an important change in today's hand, you will notice that the dealer has a total of 50 points for making a double contract. He could make four hearts, which probably would not be doubled under the new law. South scores 120 points for making three diamonds doubled, 90 points for making

WASHING MACHINE
One cardinal sin against your electric washing machine is overloading it. It will not wash efficiently, you may blow out a fuse and you will undoubtedly strain the motor. So take trouble to measure the load, and don't make your machine carry more than manufacturer's direction advise.

For a Culinary Triumph

Lemon meringue pie will thrill the tastes of every member of the family, when it is made as suggested, while it helps to get another serving of citrus fruits into their systems.

What To Do
Pops, in order to do this, you will have to share your house or your apartment with another woman, who you must have confidence in. Pick her out carefully, preferably someone you have known for a long time, and with whose peculiarities you are acquainted. Don't expect her to be a pin-eared angel, or a rubber stamp of your own, but do expect that she has got to put up with all the things that you do. Don't get too nervous as you do this.

1942 WAS NOT THE FIRST AMERICAN OCCUPATION IN NORTH AFRICA!

Although many writers assumed that when American forces occupied North Africa in November, 1942, it was the first time in history, the truth is that it was the second time. In 1809, pirates which infested the coast of Tripoli were such a nuisance to our shipping that the American government decided to put a stop to the terrorizing. In 1809, Gen. James Wilkinson, the town raised the American flag over it, and with a treaty of peace had been signed, they abandoned the occupation—proving that Americans had no reluctance in occupying foreign lands for the people of North Africa.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRIDGE

When the weather moderates and groups of children begin to congregate in the backyards for play, the child exposed to the mixed society of companions of different ages improves a favored disposition.

The mother would be strange indeed who did not see in his new world of play the child's tendency to be aggressively rude and indifferent to the "pernicious" influence of other children.

Yet, no matter where one lives this influence is certain to be felt. There are no perfect neighborhoods and no perfect children. The tendency in any group to do the behavior of the worst child to become the behavior of all of them.

Does this mean that mothers must keep their children at home? No, for the child's tendency to be aggressive is a part of his growth, how then shall one deal with this temporary influence of other children?

Let us keep in mind that whatever the influences a group of children has on an individual child, our influence is far stronger and more effective. Naturally, he hears new words and he tries them out on us. He hears explanations of things which may be far different and more exciting than he has been told to do at home with other children.

But, does he get away with it? Not if we are the family we say we are. We have the right to have patterns of conduct and we have the right to have them kept. When children come from the day the child was born, if a group of children has in a few months ruin the years of influence we have had in guiding him, there is something very wrong with our methods of our example.

When children choose words that hurt our ears, should we write our hands? No, by no means. Say "I'm sorry, you hear me say the word we talk."

When children begin to whisper in corners, who is to blame? It is in their eyes, perhaps it is as well to review the whole subject of eye contact and see wherein we have failed to make it understood. The child who has honest sex information won't be fooled over by what some other child whispers to him.

Even though a chance companion may be with him, it is our cause him to imitate him. Therefore, our child's character will be shaped by the influence of our guidance, with right ideas and strong convictions. He has been exposed from birth.

Answering A Child's Questions About Babies may be had by sending a Stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Myrtle Meyer Eldridge in care of this newspaper. This is for those mothers who have put off giving this essential information.

In a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (250°) for about 1 hour or until a silver knife slipped out clean when it is done. Place the centre of the pudding. Serve 4 to 6. For variation: Use 1 cup egg molasses, water and lemon juice and add to dry ingredients. Pour into buttered pudding mould, cover and steam for 3 hours. Serves 8.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

One of the best tonics for spring is plenty of B vitamins. This in your food may change just fairly health to buoyant health, steady the mixed society of companions of different ages improves a favored disposition.

In their raw or original state, most plant and animal foods contain some of the B vitamins, but only a few foods contain very much of them. B vitamins are found in such lean pork, liver and kidney and other meat organs, whole grains, dried beans and peas, soybeans, and nuts—particularly peanuts. Other foods that contain vitamins of B group include lean meats, eggs, milk, vegetables, and fruits, according to home economists in the U.S. department of agriculture.

The body can store some vitamins, but not the B's. It must have a regular supply as well as plentiful supply. Try to include some B food in every meal, if possible—at least in winter.

The B's are great in many diets because a great deal of vitamin B is found in the kitchen. If it is cooking destroys some of the B value of food contents, and some B vitamins are destroyed in cooking. The B's containing B vitamins are reheated, even fewer of the valuable vitamins remain, though the re-cooked food will still have valuable vitamins. B vitamins are left-overs; use them, but don't count on them for daily B's. Be sure you are getting B vitamins in your cooking water. Save the liquid and serve it with vegetables, or use it to sauté and gravies.

Important to keep in mind now is the effect of the wartime meat rationing in cutting down on a mainstay source of B's. Fortunately, there are a number of protein foods, such as eggs, dried beans and peas, soybeans, and nuts, that can alternate for meat as main dishes and that contain, at the same time, a good share of B vitamins.

Red Cross Aims at 100,000 Food Parcels Per Week And Greater Blood Shipments Blood Saving Lives of Wounded And Food Preserving Health of British Prisoners

In five major Canadian cities, Red Cross Packing Centers are busy putting out food parcels by the thousands for our prisoners in enemy camps. Five days a week, along the fast-moving assembly line, toil cheerfully the mothers, wives, sisters, and girl-friends of the boys who fight "over there".

Because of the watery type of food served in enemy internment camps, the well-balanced assortment in the food parcels has prevented many a prisoner's death.

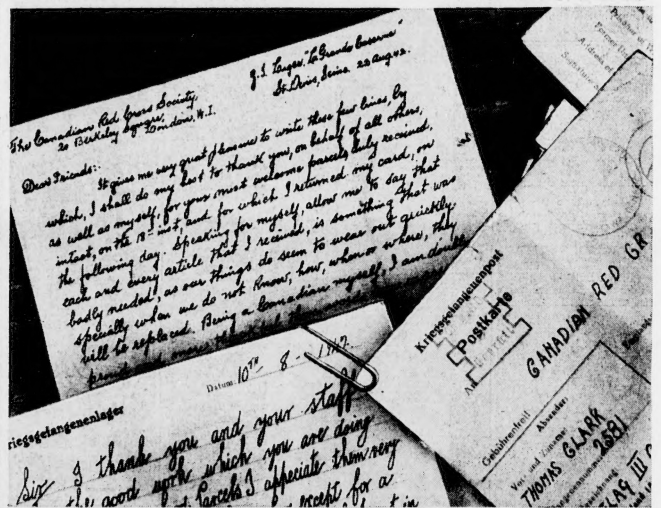

W. O. V. B. Schneider, who escaped from enemy prison camp is shown thanking the Red Cross workers for the weekly parcels shipped to him from this very Center.

The most modern packing methods are used in the five Red Cross Packing Centers across Canada. We see here a stapling machine used in preliminary sealing work.

The parcels are shipped overseas in the crates shown here. Twelve food parcels per crate, and innumerable thousands of crates despatched overseas every month.

Cards and letters by the thousands pour into Red Cross Packing Centers, acknowledging the sincere gratitude of prisoners. Four hundred thousand of these letters have already reached the Centers. In 1943, the Red Cross intends shipping 100,000 parcels per week to interned Canadian soldiers.

Eager hands reach for the letter from home, for the parcel that will contain a much-needed supply of food. Allied prisoners in a German prison camp patiently wait for their mail. They need food and clothing. We must send some regularly.

Another Canadian Red Cross activity. Human blood is prepared for processing. Plasma only, the vital part of blood, remains when it is shipped to battlefield.

A severely wounded soldier receives a plasma transfusion to strengthen him for a major surgical operation. Blood clinics of our Canadian cities contribute to a large extent in supplying blood plasma to the Canadian contingent hospitals.
